BRINGING THE WORLD TO THE CLASSROOM AND THE CLASSROOM TO LIFE

The world is an incredible place. At National Geographic Learning, we want to reflect the world through content that is authentic, compelling, fascinating and often amazing.

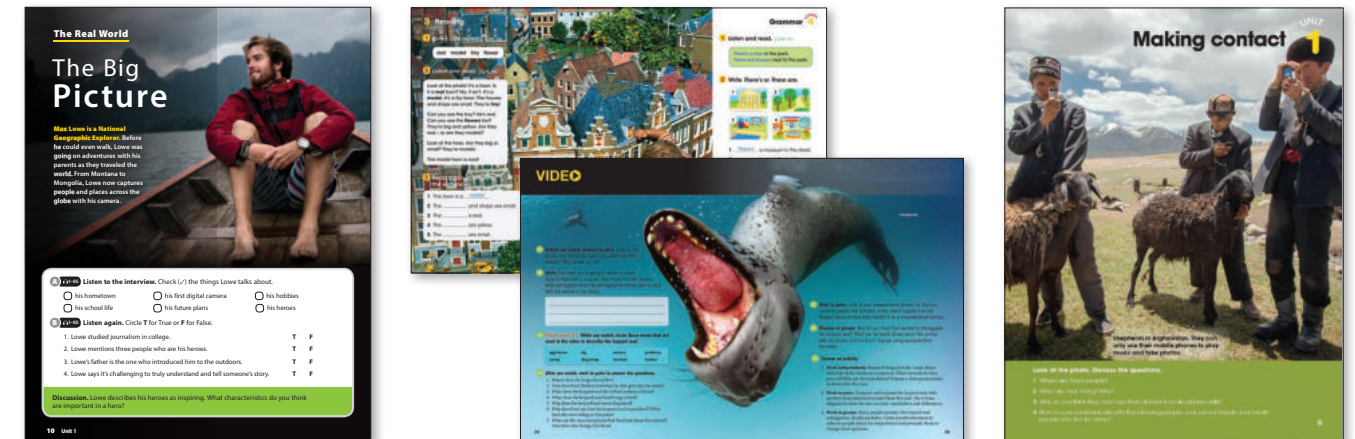

An incredible photo, story, or idea inspires curiosity. Our learning materials teach English and help young learners and teens to experience the world.

We give learners reasons to talk about their lives, and the world – and to develop a voice of their own in English.

We help you bring the world to your classroom and your classroom to life.

With National Geographic Learning's programs your learners:

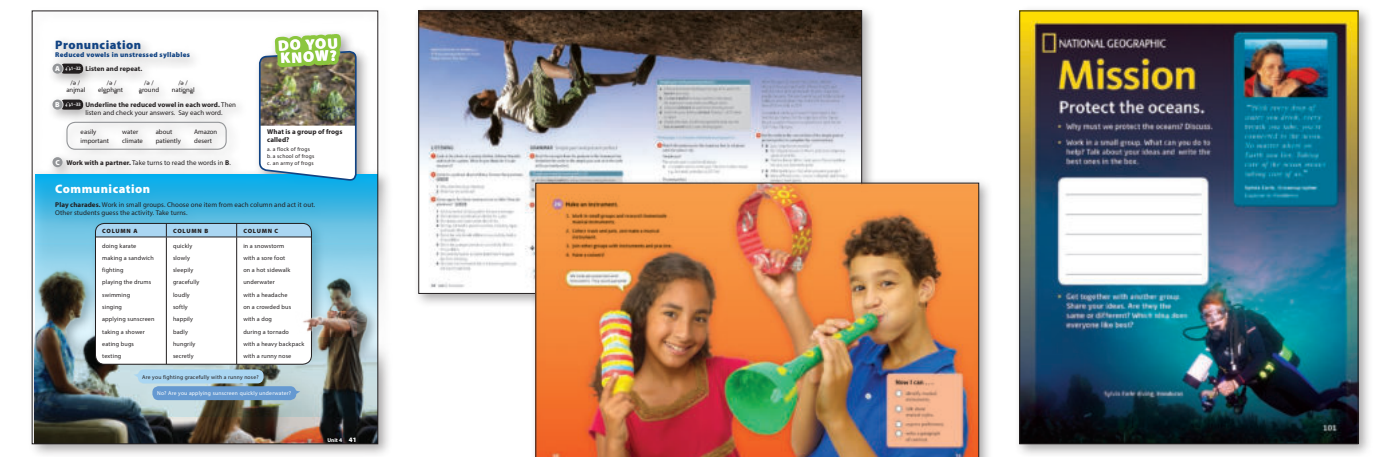

- Encounter real-world stories, amazing photographs and video, and inspiring people to make learning fun and relevant

- Learn about themselves and their place in the world, and develop the skills and knowledge they need to succeed

- Use English to express their ideas, and opinions confidently, to take international exams, and to develop their own voice in English

Our programs for young learners and teenagers create a solid foundation for learning about the world.

1D Half a Million Secrets

“Secrets can take many forms. They can be shocking or silly or soulful. They can connect us to our deepest humanity or with people we’ll never meet again.”

FRANK WARREN

Read about Frank Warren and get ready to watch his TED Talk. ▶ 18:46

AUTHENTIC LISTENING SKILLS

Word stress

In English, words with two or more syllables have the main stress on one of the syllables. Learning the pronunciation of words and where the stress is will help you recognize them when you hear them.

1 Read the Authentic Listening Skills box. Listen to the words from the TED Talk and underline the syllables that are stressed. [18:46]

1 collect 3 giftfriend 5 advertisement 7 instructions
2 received 4 stranger 6 memory 8 collection

2 Now listen to two extracts from the talk. Notice the stressed syllables in the first extract. Underline the stressed syllables in the second extract. [18:46]

1 Hi, my name is Frank, and I collect secrets. It all started with a crazy idea in November of two thousand and four.
2 I printed up three thousand self-addressed postcards, just like this. They were blank on one side, and on the other side I listed some simple instructions.

WATCH

1 Watch Part 1 of the talk. Choose the correct options to complete the sentences. [18:46]

1 Frank gave the postcards to strangers / friends.
2 The idea made people angry / became very popular.
3 People from the US / many different countries sent postcards to Frank.
4 The green postcard was a little sad / very funny.

16 Unit 1 Who are you? 17

Complete the sentences. Then watch Part 2 of the talk and check your answers. [18:46]

cat postcard email ring ending website

1 The man's postcard had a picture of a _____ and a ring.
2 The man said he wanted to give the _____ to the woman.
3 Frank put the _____ on his website.
4 A little while later, Frank received a very happy _____ from the man.
5 The man and the woman looked at Frank's _____ together.
6 The story had a happy _____ because the woman said yes.

WATCH Part 3 of the talk. Which ideas does Frank Warren discuss? Check the ones he mentions. [18:46]

1 The website I found YourCamera helps people find lost cameras.
2 Many people feel unhappy when they see their pictures on the website.
3 I found YourCamera shows that people want to help other people.
4 The woman in the picture found another person's camera.
5 The man, woman, and child in the picture are very happy now.

VOCABULARY IN CONTEXT

a Watch the clips from the talk. Choose the correct meaning of the words and phrases. [18:46]
b Complete the sentences with your own ideas. Then discuss with a partner.

1 I sometimes struggle when _____.
2 My favorite image is _____.
3 When I need to feel calm, I _____.
4 One time I experienced a language barrier when _____.

2 Frank says that secrets can be shocking or silly or soulful. Write a couple of sentences sharing a silly secret about yourself. Choose something that you don't mind telling the whole class.

I always cry at the end of Stars Wars movies. I try to hide it from my friends and family, but every time I watch one, I cry.

CRITICAL THINKING Identifying the main idea

1 Read the Critical Thinking box. Then work in pairs. Say what you think the main idea of the talk is.

Usually a talk contains one main idea, but it isn't always stated directly. You have to think about how all the parts of the talk work together to create a message.

2 Read the statements below. Which one correctly identifies the talk's main idea? Why? How are the ones you didn't choose wrong?

a Frank is showing us that we should have secrets that we never tell. Telling too much information about ourselves can cause real problems.
b Frank is saying that when we see other people's secrets, we understand that everyone is human—everyone feels the same feelings. This can help us be kind to ourselves and to other people.
c Frank thinks that writing postcards is a good way to share information. He says that people are honest when they send postcards.

MY PERSPECTIVE

Frank talks about the kindness of strangers. Does he think people are generally kind or generally unkind? How do you know? Do you agree with him?

CHALLENGE

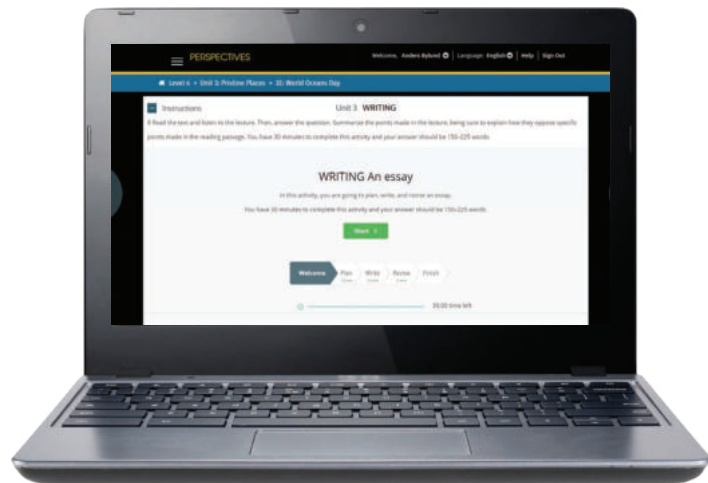

Matty's website uses the kindness of strangers to help people find lost cameras and photographs. Can you think of other ways that people help strangers? Write down three ideas and share them with a partner.

People sometimes give directions to strangers who visit their city.

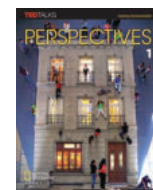

EXAM PREPARATION

Perspectives provides the support learners need to communicate in person, in writing, and on international exams.

- Students practice new language through activities that reflect task types found in international exams.
- Interactive online activities on MyELT prepare learners for common exam situations like timed writing.
- Exam preparation tips in the Lesson Planner help students build strategies for test-taking success.

webinars

At National Geographic Learning, we want students and their teachers to experience the excitement and joy of learning through our materials.

We invite teachers of English to join us in professional development conversations with authors, speakers from the TED stage, National Geographic Explorers, English Language Teaching Consultants and other experts in the English Language Learning field.

Our webinars are virtual presentations developed around an important professional development topic for English Language teachers. Attendees actively participate in webinars through features such as polling, chats, and surveys. All attendees will receive a certificate of attendance for attending a webinar session.

“Since I discovered National Geographic Learning webinars, I couldn’t think of a better way of being updated in order to improve my teaching and make my students feel more engaged when learning the language. Thank you for giving us the chance to take part from any part of the world.”
- Jimena, an English Language teacher in Argentina
